The digital revolution has led to profound changes in photography. It has never been easier to take good pictures and share them with others. No other hobby has as many followers around the world. Photos are everywhere and, thanks to smartphones, we can take them whenever we like.

However, you need a real camera to capture truly excellent images. And this is precisely where Chip Foto-Video comes in: Practical tests & advice on buying cameras, lenses and accessories. Valuable tips for taking better photos. Impressive images from all fields of photography. In short, the editorial team provides up-to-date and independent reports on everything of interest to ambitious photographers. With a passion for their topic and plenty of expertise from their own testing laboratory and photo studio.
