

The largest network for expats all over the world

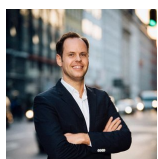

Internations is the world's largest network for expats. The company offers expats a variety of ways to connect and exchange with other members who are in the same situation and have similar needs. Offline events are a particular focus, with 2016 seeing around 50,000 such events held worldwide and attended by a total of 1.5 million people. Internations employs more than 100 people from over 30 countries.
