

Leading online provider of meteorological services

Meteovista is one of the leading B2B and B2C providers of meteorological data and services in Europe and the Netherlands. Around 1.5 million visitors use the online services each month to find out all about weather. Every day, experienced meteorologists deliver weather data directly to business customers such as media outlets, agricultural operations and winter services. They also send information to private individuals via websites and award-winning apps.

Meteovista is a subsidiary of the listed HolidayCheck Group AG with Hubert Burda Media as its main shareholder.
